Leadership Academy at FELU Centre for Business Excellence –An Accelerator for Mindful Leaders

Leadership Academy by Centre of Business Excellence at Faculty of Economic, Ljubljana University (FELU) is offering the possibility to dive into the moment and become a positive “game changer” under the mentorship of extraordinary international lecturers.

The programme consists of six modules taking place between March and December 2016.

We are living in a dynamic world and with a permanent threat that complexity can result in some complication. Everyday life puts us under a constant pressure: loads of information that has to be selected and checked, uncertainty that has to be managed, expectations to be fulfilled. However, we are still human beings with hearts and souls, with a strong need to decide, to love and belong, to be accepted, recognised and to be loved.

It is becoming evident that new kind of leadership is needed. Mindful leaders are becoming leaders of today and of tomorrow. People who are not just well educated and trained, but are, most of all, people, who possess empathy, courage and inner strength to lead by example. Those, whose value system is based on high ethical principles and whose life purpose goes beyond financial prosperity and growth. You cannot lead others until you deeply know and trust yourself. Mindfulness involves acceptance, meaning that we recognise and understand our thoughts and feelings without judging them good or bad. Mindfulness means living in the moment and awakening to experience instead of letting your life pass by.

The programme consists of eight modules taking place between March and December 2016.

MC has undertaken the voyage and the Leadership Academy towards a deeper understanding of mindfulness as an essential ingredient of leadership we need today. Here we are bringing you some reflections that you may find inviting to join in.
